LIFE

Do You Remember?

Homecoming? Greek Week? The 1982-1983 school year was filled with many activities, laughter and learning. The Campus was reborn in August as students arrived to begin another academic year. While students took time to readjust to campus life, organizations began to provide people with numerous activities to entertain them. The first main event was Greek rush.

Throughout the year students took study breaks to attend many of the fun programs that had been planned since last semester. Several organizations sponsored week long events such as Greek Week, which was sponsored by IFC/PANHEL the Black Student Alliance's Garret Week as well as IDC's Dorm Daze.

During the year students worked very diligently in and out of classroom making the 1982-1983 academic year one of learning and growth. And yet many people found time to become involved in intramurals, organizations, attend a concert at the new Peoria Civic Center and become involved in the November elections.

All in all, 1982-1983 was a highly productive year. Despite problems like the All School Elections controversy students managed to work together in making the year a good experience.

Founder's Day Celebration;

A Look At Bradley Today!

As renovations began on the new music recital hall on Barker Ave., the students, faculty and community gathered to celebrate the 85th anniversary of the University's founding. The University was founded in 1897 by Lydia Moss Bradley as a living testimonial to her family. The first Founder's Day was October 8, 1897 and was then called Bradley Polytechnic Institute. Bradley began as a four year academy with a two year junior college and today it is a 7 college University.

On October 8, 1983 an audience of over 300 people gathered in the Hartmann Center for the Performing Arts to honor Mrs. Bradley and those at Bradley today who have worked to fulfill her goals. At the ceremonies speakers like Dick Steubinger, President of the National Alumni Association and Nate Martin, All School President, spoke about Lydia's dedication and ideals and related them to today's University.

Following a performance by Bradley's award winning Chorale, Dr. Martin Abegg, Bradley University President, presented service awards to faculty members who had served the University for over twenty-five years. Next, the Francis C. Mergen Memorial Award for Public Service was presented to Dr. John R. Howard. Dr. Howard had been an extremely active community member and was well deserving of the award. After this Dr. Gustav Olling, Chairman of the Manufacturing Engineering Department, was presented with the Award for Professional Excellence. The final award presented was the Putnam Award for teaching excellence which was presented to Dr. Joseph Emanuel, Chairman of the Industrial Engineering Department. Both Dr. Olling and Dr. Emanuel were given certificates and checks for $500. Also receiving awards on Founder's Day 1982 were two alumni, Robert D. Morgan and Gary Roberts. The Distinguished Alumnus Award was given to Mr. Morgan and Mr. Roberts was presented with the Outstanding Young Graduate Award.

In 1847, Lydia Moss Bradley came to Peoria, Illinois. Following the death of her six children and her husband, Mrs. Bradley began a quest to build a living testimonial to her deceased family. Today, in 1982 that dream is a reality. Bradley University was the dream of a determined remarkable woman and her dreamed has prospered and grown by the dedication and caring of the many people who served Bradley since 1897. The Founder's Day Celebrations at Bradley are a time to reflect on our past and to honor the wonderful woman who began Bradley. However Founder's Day should also be a time to look towards the future and at the 85th Founder's Day Celebration the gathering looked forward with hope and inspiration.

Bradley Goes Latino

In early November the Latino Student Association sponsored "Bradley Goes Latino Week." From November 1 through November 5 the Association worked to increase the average student's awareness of the culture and problems of Latin American.

The week began with a spirited 90 minute talk by Felipe Luciano on the Black and Latin American minority in the United States. He emphasized their participation in television and radio media as a means of acquiring some political recognition and stated that the Association's Latino Week was an example of the new Latino pride that is emerging all over the nation.

"Bradley Goes Latino Week" continued with a lecture by Dr. Stephen Bunker, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Illinois, on the violation of human rights in Latin America. Dr. Bunker talked to students concerning these violations and the role of the United States in Latin America.

The Latino Student Association is a group providing activities for the benefit of Latino students and the University as a whole. By sponsoring Latino Week the Association had made a large advancement towards fulfilling its role on Bradley's campus.

CWA: Encourages Awareness

In October the Council for Women's Awareness sponsored their annual Women's Awareness Week. The week began on October 18, 1982 with a lecture sponsored by the Activities Council, CWA and the Progressive Student Alliance. The speaker at this lecture was former congresswoman, Bella Abzug. Mrs. Abzug talked for almost two hours on the role of women in the government and on current political issues.

On the second night of the week a Rape Awareness seminar was held. At this seminar a self defense instructor presented techniques for rape prevention and gave students advice on avoiding rape confrontations. The third night members of CWA participated in a march against visiting President Reagan. A large group of students participated in the march from Bradley's campus to the civic center to express their feelings on the President's policies.

Finally, the week was completed on the weekend with the showing of the movie, Tess. The movie was presented by ACBU and CWA and was a strong way to end the week.

My Fair Lady

"Smashing" was the word many people used to describe the Bradley University production of the Lerner and Loewe musical MY FAIR LADY. The production, which opened the Bradley Theater Season ran for eight performances from Sept. 3 through Sept. 12. Under the direction of Dr. Richard Marriott, a cast of more than 25 spent the entire month of August transforming the Meyer Jacobs Theater into early twentieth century London.

Ron Claypool was wonderful as Prof. Henry Higgins and Kandiss Bowen was enchanting as Eliza Doolittle. The musical depicts the story of a flower girl, who is transformed into a lady with the help of an English professor. The musical numbers were beautifully choreographed by Paula Petrini and solidly held together under the direction of Molly McCullough. Brent and Deann Fleming designed the lavish scenery which added the finishing touch to a wonderful production.

MY FAIR LADY was a monumental show and its success was due to the combined efforts of many people. The musical was a "lovely" way to open the 1982-1983 Bradley Theater Season.

The Rainmaker

In October, Bradley continued its Theater Season with N. Richard Nash's, THE RAINMAKER. The play takes place in a southwestern state, on a summer day in a time of drought. As the audience is introduced to the Curry family it becomes evident that the plant life is not the only thing withering. The hopes and dreams of several members of the family are also drying up and the rainmaker, Starbuck, arrives in time to give this family the boost it needs.

In this production the cast included a faculty member as well as Bradley students. The Curry family was excellently portrayed by Dr. Brendan Liddell, John Hanson, Tim Clue, and Margie Kestner. Starbuck, the rainmaker, was portrayed wonderfully by Brad Johansen. Other members of the cast were Jeff Laird, Scott Beecham, Greg Dolph and musician Pat Bensing.

This play was directed by Bradley's Theater professor Dr. Collings J. Bell and the show stunned audiences from October 15 through October 24. Once again the sets were designed by Brent Fleming and the Costumer was Dorothy Johnson. Assistants to the Directors were Donna Garzino and Rebecca Schreiber.

Bradley's production of THE RAINMAKER was a refreshing, unique addition to the Bradley Theater Season and added a special touch to the Parent's Weekend Activities.

Androcles And The Lion

As the Holiday Season descended upon Bradley University the Theater Department presented the play, Androcles and the Lion, a play by Aurand Harris. The play was written in the style of Commedia Dell' Arte and incorporates music and dance with the drama. This Bradley production was directed by Dr. Richard Marriott and many children and adults were charmed by the production which ran from November 19 through December 5.

Androcles and the Lion is a simple story revolving around the friendship of Androcles, a slave and a lion. The show had a cast of almost twenty five people including several children. Julia Escher portrayed Androcles the slave and Ron Claypool played her master, Pantolone. Other cast members included Mary Alice Kelly, Andrew Tetzlaff, Michael Fancher, and Dawn Acheson. The star of Androcles and the Lion was David Houghtaling in the part of the Lion. Houghtaling charmed and entertained everyone as the King of the Jungle.

Working on the production staff were Molly McCullough, who worked on coordinating the music with the play and Paula Petrini who designed the dance sequences. The Costumes were made by Dorothy Johnson and the cast designed their own make up. This production used Michael Dwyer as set designer and Brent Fleming as Lighting and Technical designer. The music used in this production was written by Glenn Mack.

Androcles and the Lion charmed audiences in the Hartmann Center for the Performing Arts for eight performances. The play by Aurand Harris was entertaining for children and adults alike and although it was only about an hour in length it was a delightful holiday treat for many. The mixture of music, drama and dance added a special touch to the production. Androcles and the Lion was a delightful production and added a special touch to the Holiday Season at Bradley University.

A royal proclamation is read freeing Androcles, Julia Escher and the lion, David Houghtaling, as the cast observes the scene. (above)

Androcles, Julia Escher, removes a thorn from the lion's foot. Following this act of kindness the Lion, David Houghtaling, and Androcles part as friends who will meet again later. (below)

The Glass Menagerie

In January, following mid-year break, the Bradley University Theater Department re-opened their Theater season with a production of The Glass Menagerie, by Tennessee Williams. This play tells the story of a family in St. Louis in the 1930's. The play focuses on the fears and desires of the three family members and how these fears and desires affect each other. The play has four cast members and yet the audience is exposed to another character that is never seen but his presence is always felt. This unseen character is the father of the family, whose picture hangs on the living room wall.

In this Bradley production the cast consisted of four students; Mary Colton as the mother, Gregory Lhamon as the son, Jessica Scheiber as the daughter, and Michael Fancher as the gentleman caller. The part of the gentleman caller represents hope which is so desperately needed in the other cast members. Under the direction of Dr. Collins J. Bell these four talented actors were able to create an expressive, wonderful production. Assisting Dr. Bell and the cast throughout the month of January was Kandiss Bowen as Assistant Director and stage manager. The set was designed by Deann Fleming and costumes by Dorothy Johnson.

All in all, Bradley's production of The Glass Menagerie was an exceptional production. After preparing throughout the month of January, during the semester break, the cast performed the play for audiences from January 21 through January 30. The Glass Menagerie was a delightful way to re open the 1982-1983 Theater Season.

Shadow Box

Cancer is one of the most dreaded diseases in the world today and the play, The Shadow Box, by M. Christofer examines the effect cancer has on people mentally.

The Shadow Bow, is a play that revolves around three cancer patients and how their families, friends and themselves learn to accept their terminal diagnosis. Throughout the play the audience is shown how different people learn to cope with their situations. The three patients are played by Jennifer Styvers, Greg Dolph, and Jeff Magnum.

Technically this play was extremely challenging for the Hartmann center crew under the supervision of Brent Fleming. The show ran from Friday, March 4 through Sunday, March 13 and was a huge success.

Importance Of Being Earnest

The Importance of Being Earnest by Oscar Wilde closed the Bradley Theater Season for the academic year 1982-1983. The play ran from Friday, April 22 till Sunday, May 1.

The Importance of Being Earnest is a satire on truth in our society. It is the story of one man who never tells the truth and one day he discovers that lies he has been telling his whole life are actually the truth.

Ron Claypool and David Houtaling portray the two main characters in this play, Ernest in the city and Ernest in the country, respectively. Other members of the cast were Donna Garzino, Lauren Pitel, Ginnie Finney, Rocco Galiretteo, and Jim Powell. The show was a delightful way to end a fantastic season of wonderful theater.

ACBU

During the 1982-1983 academic year the Activities Council of Bradley University sponsored a large variety of programs and events for the enjoyment and educational benefit of the campus and the community.

Each weekend the Visual Arts committee provided movies for the campus. The committee sponsored such movies as "Ordinary People", "On Golden Pond", "Chariots of Fire", and many other popular movies. Also the committee sponsored several film festivals as well as a classical film series.

The lecture series began with a lecture by James Doohan of Star Trek fame, and continued with other people like congresswoman Bella Abzug, author Chet Fuller, and lawyer Arthur R. Miller.

Throughout the year the travel committee sponsored several trips to various places like Daytona Beach and Steamboat Springs, Colo.

The Special Events Committee sponsored bartending and aerobics classes twice during the year and provided all the activities for their opening week of school. They also showed the movie, "The Graduate", at the end of the year.

During the Fall Parent's Weekend the Council brought in Phyllis Diller to entertain the Parents. In the Spring the Council sponsored the Spring Arts Festival for Parent's Weekend. During the Festival a wide variety of events were held with parental participation at an all time high.

The Performing Arts series was extremely well received and the audiences were entertained by such groups as Vienna Choir Boys, Chicago City Ballet, The Chestnut Brass Co., T. Daniel Mime and the Broadway show "The Fantastiks".

During the academic year the Main-stage committee re-structured its programming offering a variety of entertainment on Saturday evenings for the students. Bands like Phil'n' the Blanks, the Caruso Brothers and Kool Ray and the Poloriodzs had record high attendance.

All in all the Council had a great year. Whether it was working on an Ice Cream Social, or a Show, or something else the members of the Council learned, laughed and had a great time while they worked in providing the Community with class A entertainment.

Campus Carnival

Minstrels, Magic and Mime was the theme for the 1983 Campus Carnival which was held at Northwoods Mall on the weekend of March 10-12.

Many groups representing all facets of the campus participated in the various events that were sponsored throughout the weekend. The Carnival was sponsored by the Activities Council and is run by a Steering Committee.

The events began on Friday evening with a Fashion Show, in which Bradley students modeled the latest spring fashions found in the Mall stores. Later that evening all the groups arrived at the Mall to prepare for the next two days. Over twenty-five booths were set up in the facility.

The mall opened the next morning and the day was filled with excitement and fun. In the early evening a dance marathon began that ran for 16 hours. On Sunday the mall was filled again with students, siblings and people from all over the Peoria area. In the early afternoon another Fashion Show was held allowing the merchants to display their fashions one more time while the King and Queen contestants modeled their outfits.

The Carnival concluded late in the afternoon with the announcements of the winners for Booths crowning of King and Queen winners, Michele Wilson and Kaiser Swiden.

All in all, Minstrels, Magic and Mime raised over $6000 for local charities. The Carnival was directed by senior, Chris McNeal, and she worked hard throughout the year to make the carnival a huge success.

Sibling's Weekend

Siblings Weekend at Bradley University is an event sponsored by the Activities Council which allows the siblings of Bradley students the opportunity to experience the University lifestyle. This year's weekend was run by ACBU coordinator, Maryann Davis, and the theme was A Taste of Bradley.

Although attendance at this years events was lower than in previous years, those that did participate had a great time. Siblings Weekend is held on the same weekend as Campus Carnival so that the siblings can enjoy the uniqueness of the weekend. The movie, Breaking Away was shown and many other events were held in the efforts to give the visitors a memorable visit.

Parent's Weekend

Two weekends are set aside each year to honor the unsung heroes of Bradley University, the student's parents.

In the Fall several organizations and University offices combine efforts to provide an entertaining weekend for visiting parents. The Fall weekend is the time when the University honors Bradley Dads. At the opening ceremony on Saturday, October 23, the award was given for the Outstanding Dad of the Year. The play, The Rainmaker, was performed for parents at a special matinee show. The highlight of the weekend was the evening performance of world famous female comedienne, Phylliss Diller. The Activities Council contracted Diller for the evenings entertainment, and the comedienne had her audience rolling in the aisles.

A Spring Potpurri was the theme for the Spring Parent's Weekend which honored Bradley Moms. Early Saturday, April 23, the award for Mom of the year was given beginning a weekend of fun. Throughout the day on Saturday many events were held to entertain the parents. Following the morning opening ceremony the Parents were given the opportunity to experience a Bradley barbeque on Olin Quad. Entertainment was provided throughout the afternoon by various campus and community groups including comedy, music and nostalgia. All the entertainment was arranged by Debbie Dempsey of the Activities Council.

On Saturday evening the Council worked with the Parents Relations and the Undergraduate Association in the Hawaiann Luau and the evenings entertainment, Laughing Stock, and Scott Jones.

Parent's Weekend have proved to be a special time at Bradley and each year the enthusiasm grows.

Homecoming

Homecoming is always a special time at Bradley and the 1983 Homecoming celebration was bigger and better than ever. Homecoming is run by the Activities Council and in the past few years the Steering Committee has been trying to make Homecoming a larger campus event. This year's coordinator was Debbie Picchi and she worked hard all year long to make Homecoming a campus wide event.

On Wednesday the Homecoming events began with a Happy Hour from 4-7 at the Lucky Lady. On Thursday Gamefest was held with the Activities Council team winning first place. On Friday a Pep Rally was held for the Basketball game against Drake on Saturday afternoon.

The Homecoming game was one of the most exciting games of the year. Bradley beat Drake by a score of 56-52. On that evening the Homecoming Dance was held at the Continental Regency in Peoria and over 600 students attended. The music was provided by Rodewald sound and Lighting and everyone had a great time.

All in All, whether you were attending a private party, participating in an event or observing the antics the Homecoming Celebration of 1983 was one of the best with its theme Let the Good Times Roll, which everyone did.

Dorm Daze

One organization that is on the move at Bradley is the Inter-Dorm Council. The group attempts to unite the dorm residents on campus through activities designed for them.

One event that the Council has been developing over the past few years has been Dorm Daze. Dorm Daze is an event in which teams and individuals compete in events sponsored by the different dorm councils throughout the week.

Throughout the week of April 17 through April 23 events like Gondola eating contests, dances and other programs were held for the benefit of the Dorm residents.

ROMEO B. GARRET WEEK

Monday, April 18 thru Saturday, April 23 was proclaimed Garrett Week by the Black Student Alliance. Throughout the week events were held which were relevant to Black Culture and History at Bradley, in Peoria, and around the nation. The week is proclaimed Garrett Week in honor of Dr. Romeo B. Garrett, the first Black Professor at Bradley University.

Garrett Week honors Dr. Garrett for his outstanding contributions to Bradley, its students, and the community. The week allows students to recognize efforts towards a better way of life for all Black Americans.

REGISTRATION

Lines, Lines and more Lines!!! Each student reacts to registration in a different way. Some are lucky and get in and out in a short period of time, however, for most students it is a very frustrating experience.

You arrive on time and wait on line for a half hour. Once inside you find out that your English class that you need desperately is on reserve and you must find the professor to get a card. Then you find that your Business class is closed except for one section that is at the same time as the English class you just spent an hour getting a reserve card for.

You leave discouraged and on a waiting list. With all the modern technology that exists in the world today one would think that a simple task like registering for classes would be easier than it is. Each year students complain, however, registration has and always will be one of the most challenging experiences in a student's college life.

SPEECH TEAM

Bradley University is extremely lucky to have a Speech Team as successful as its team has been over the past few years. This year the team made National History as the only team to win both the American and National Forensic Tournaments two years in a row.

The team is comprised of students with experience and interest in public speaking or oral interpretation. The team is guided by George Armstrong and it is mainly because of Armstrong that the team has done so well.

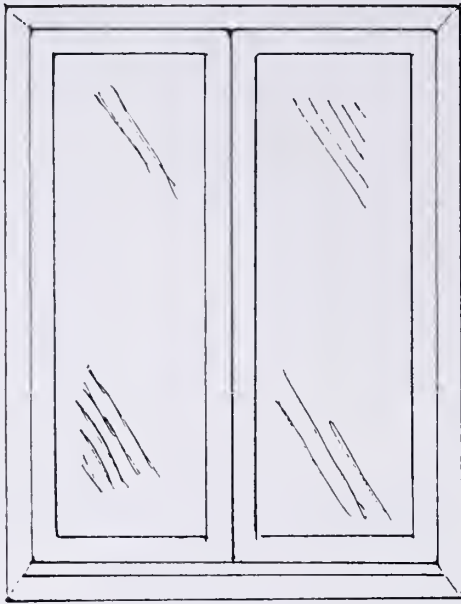

Following their victory at the National Forensic Tournament the team returned to Bradley and a reception at the Romeo B. Garrett Center which was exciting and moving. The team members were grateful for the support their peers had given them throughout the year and for the warm reception.

ah, what a nice day to

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Inter-Fraternity Council is the governing body for 16 of the University's fraternities. The IFC consists of seven executive board members and one representative from each of the 16 fraternities. IFC coordinates functions such as philanthropies, Greek social events and rush and sports.

In addition, IFC has its own court to handle any fraternal disputes. This year the Inter-Fraternity Council has raised money during philanthropies for the March of Dimes and the Easter Seals Society.

The United Black Pan-Hellenic Council

The United Black Pan-Hellenic Council is the governing body of the eight predominately Black fraternities and sororities on Bradley's campus. Although the U.B.P.C. has only been in existence for 3 years, it has been responsible for several civic projects on Bradley's campus.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

Nationally, Alpha Epsilon Pi was founded in 1913 at New York University and the local chapter was founded in 1949. The present house, which is located on Fredonia, was the first house built for a Greek organization at Bradley and was built in 1961. The fraternity is a member of the National Inter-Fraternity Council with about 80 active chapters in the United States and over 3500 undergraduate members.

The most distinguished Bradley AEPi alumnus is consumer advocate, David Horowitz.

Throughout the year the fraternity sponsored activities that included community service projects, involvement in IFC sponsored sports, sorority exchanges, theme parties, and a spring formal.

Alpha Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi is a national businessmen's fraternity and during the year the men of the Bradley University chapter got down to business. Throughout the year the men of 1515 West Fredonia spent the year working towards achieving their goals.

Besides parties, sorority exchanges, and a large spring formal the men of Alpha Kappa Psi worked on community service projects and other projects aimed towards improving the Bradley community.

Alpha Phi Alpha

Alpha Phi Alpha is a small fraternity for black men at Bradley University; but once you've heard of this group, you won't soon forget about them.

Alpha Phi Alpha was one of the most active service fraternities on the campus.

This year the brothers held parties for underprivileged children as well as, sponsored activities for other charities. But it was not all work for these men. The members also had several social functions including their annual Ball.

Delta Upsilon

Delta Upsilon Fraternity is the largest fraternity on Bradley's campus and throughout the year they were involved in a wide range of activities and enjoyed a great amount of success. These activities and successes ranged from capturing first place in the Greek Week competition to aiding local and national charities through the fraternities involvement in several philanthropies.

The DU's also enjoyed a very active social life that included parties, exchanges, little sister get togethers, and an all faculty cocktail party.

Once again the DU's were able to keep the Intra-Fraternity All Sports Cup at the DU house on Fredonia.

Adding to their University success and recognition was the announcement that Bradley's chapter of Delta Upsilon was named the most outstanding Delta Upsilon chapter in the United States and Canada.

Lambda Chi Alpha

The fraternity system at Bradley is one that has a deep heritage and strong foundation. Lambda Chi Alpha was the first national fraternity established on Bradley University campus. The fraternity has always set high standards for itself and the fraternity system at Bradley.

Lambda Chi Alpha has been a leader in fraternity sports, has had an active social life, and is a leader in community projects like the LCA March of Dimes Haunted House. The members of LCA have a distinction that separates them from the other houses. This distinction is LCA's brotherhood. The membership is about 60 members, with the majority being juniors and sophomores.

Omega Psi Phi

The Omega Psi Phi fraternity was organized on Friday evening, November 17, 1911 at Howard University and was incorporated on October 28, 1914. Our four founders were Ernest E. Just, Edgar A. Love, Oscar J. Cooper, and Frank Coleman. The undergraduate chapter of Xi Epsilon chapter was established at Peoria Junior College in 1957 and its members have maintained a high standard of manhood, scholarship, perseverance, and uplift. The Brothers of Xi Epsilon have actively contributed their services to the Urban League, N.A.A.C.P., BSA, and various hospitals, and other groups in the Peoria area. The brothers are proud of their commitments to Omega Week, the Voting Drive, O.M.E.G.A., and the push to establish Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday a national holiday.

Phi Beta Sigma

ΦΒΣ

The Zeta Mu chapter of Phi Beta Sigma fraternity was founded in May of 1973. Since then there have been over forty brothers initiated into the Bradley chapter. The men of Phi Beta Sigma have been very active in the Peoria community. The fraternity has tutored at community action centers, sponsored food drives and has raised money for local charities. The Sigma Silhouettes, the little sister organization to Phi Beta Sigma, also played a great role in the great success of the fraternity.

Phi Gamma Delta

Each fraternity at Bradley seeks a unique identity that makes it different from the other Bradley Greek organizations. In the past two years the Beta Pi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta has tried to do exactly that. Over the past two years the Beta Pi chapter has spent their time trying to establish itself on Bradley's campus.

Currently the membership of FIJI stands at 41 actives. This past year the FIJI's have maintained the highest overall average GPA in the fraternity system. During the year FIJI spent time increasing their involvement on campus by sponsoring exchanges, Happy Hour's, and parties. The fraternity is without a permanent home however it is managing successfully to become an intergral part of the Bradley Greek system.

To top off the year Phi Tau made plans for construction of a new house in the near future. Phi Tau is a unique house that cannot be labelled when asked what he thought made Phi Tau special, a new inductee replied, "I don't know-we are a real close knit group of which I am proud to be a member."

PKT

Pi Kappa Alpha

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity began the year on a high note when it took the largest pledge class in Bradley University's history. Pike also excelled in sports during the year by winning in both golf and volleyball. The fraternity also placed high in other interfraternity sports competitions.

During the year the Pike's worked hard in serving the Peoria area. The fraternity had various parties for the big brother/big sister organization and weatherized 10 homes for the elderly in the West Bluff area. A new addition to the community service program the quiet heroes program for the American Red Cross.

Also this year the Pike Dream Girl Calendar was extremely well received on campus with over one thousand calendars distributed on the campus.

Throughout the year the men of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity worked hard for the campus and the community. Their annual PUSH raised money for charity. Other activities during the year included parties, formals, and exchanges.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon kept busy with a variety of activities during the 1982-1983 school year. The Fall pledge class hosted their annual all campus party in honor of Paddy Murphy, SAEs supposed travelling national secretary. The brothers also worked on projects for the community and the campus.

Throughout the year the men of SAE participated in the Inter-Fraternity sports events and had exchanges with several sororities and had a formal.

Sigma Chi

As a member of the Miami Triad, Sigma Chi fraternity was founded in 1855 at Miami University in Ohio. An international fraternity which boasts chapters outside the United States, Sigma Chi's are one of the best known national fraternities in the nation and at Bradley. The Sig's are active in all areas of campus life. Socially the Sig's started out with one of their strongest rushes over followed by exchanges and Little Sister parties.

The two biggest social events of the year were the Traditional Sweetheart Dance and a very successful Derby Days.

In campus activities, the Sig's are represented in clubs and athletic competition while maintaining high academic standards. One of their most successful drives in fundraising was in raising money for the Wallace Village of Children in Colorado.

Sigma Nu

Sigma Nu, is a social fraternity located on Fredonia and University, and has been an intergral part of the Bradley Greek system. During the year the fraternity was an active participant in all Inter-Fraternity Council events and also in many campus events like Campus Carnival.

The brothers worked towards achieving their goals while aiding the community and the campus. The fraternity had a very active social life with little sister parties, formals, exchanges and other events.

ΣN

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon at Bradley University prides itself on its unique brotherhood. While other fraternities may stress grades or sports, Sig Ep puts great emphasis on unifying the entire membership. Along with the close bond amongst the brothers, comes a mutual respect for diverse interests. Diversity allows Sig Ep to avoid being classified by others.

By being such a flexible house Sig Ep can fair well in all areas of collegiate life such as social, scholarship, and sports. The Sig Ep Scholarship chairman has come up with many new and innovative ways to motivate brothers to diligently pursue their academics by sponsoring in house honors and contests. The social life at Sig Ep is also one that is conducive to campus life. Not only does Sig Ep provide the campus with the most all campus parties but it also maintains a strong little sister program. Sig Ep holds a good competitive stance among the other fraternities at Bradley and continues to strive for its high standards.

ΣΦΕ

Tau Epsilon Phi

The Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity was founded in 1910 and was established at Bradley University in 1962. Since that time the fraternity has developed into a strong and diversified organization. The Brothers have consistently put an emphasis on scholarship, philanthropy and academic excellence as well as sports and social events.

Throughout the year the men of Tau Epsilon Phi (TEP) sponsored many social events designed to develop their brotherhood. Once again the brothers has their annual Southern Boogie Bash for the entire campus.

ΤΕΦ

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon is a group of young men pulling together to make the best of their college years. They thrive on the challenge of academics, excel in intramural competition, and enjoy the social activities that Bradley has to offer its students.

In the area of philanthropy the efforts of the brothers has resulted in over $40,000 in donations to the Peoria Association for Retarded Citizens, which is one of the most profitable efforts of any group in the Peoria area.

TKE prides itself on its highly competitive participation in all Inter fraternity sports as well as other aspects of Greek life. The fraternity's strength stems from the diversity of its members, which enables them to bring all of their goals within reach, fulfill their needs, and create memories that will last a lifetime. The brothers of TKE feel that it is more than a college experience, it is an experience for life.

TKE

The Daughters Of The Crossed Swords

Theta Xi

The Theta Xi house prides itself on individualism. One thing that allows this is the fraternity's small size. Being small also enhances the concept of fraternity life and brotherhood.

Despite their small size Theta Xi has never failed to put up a good fight on the playing field. They are always contenders in fraternity sports. More importantly Theta Xi upholds to its social obligations to the Bradley campus through their annual St. Patrick's Day Party.

Studies at Theta Xi are also very important. All the members of the group are encouraged to excel in their studies.

All in all, the Theta Xi house is a great place.

Pan-Hellenic Council

Panhel is the governing body for eight of the sororities on Bradley's campus. During the year Panhel plans activities that encourage inter-Greek relations so that Bradley's Greek women work with each other as well as the other members of their house.

Throughout the year Panhel tried to become more involved in all-school activities, encouraging all Greeks and non-Greeks to work as one student body.

Alpha Chi Omega

On May 6, 1983 Bradley's Zeta Eta chapter of Alpha Chi Omega sorority celebrated its five year chapter anniversary. The chapter has grown quickly in the past five years to a membership of 84 active members. Originally, Alpha Chi Omega began with 12 girls at 1507 West Barker.

As the members of Alpha Chi Omega returned to campus in August they were able to move into a permanent home at 1525 West Fredonia. The house was constructed during the summer of 1982 thanks to the hard work and dedication of the Alpha Chi Omega actives.

With their new home on Fredonia the Alpha Chi Omega's were well prepared for a very successful year.

ΑΧΩ

Alpha Epsilon Phi

ΑΕΦ

Alpha Kappa Alpha

"Unique is what we seek," hails the Epsilon Eta chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, Inc. The proud heritage of Alpha Kappa Alpha began in 1908 at Howard University and was the first black Greek sorority. Over the years the women have taken the ivy leaf and pearls as their symbol and the colors pink and green have been worn proudly.

Throughout the year the women sponsored many events for the group and community. The sisters of Alpha Kappa Alpha held a Fall and Spring Tea for interested women on campus. At these functions the sisters searched for women with the unique characteristics needed to be a positive asset to the sorority.

AKA

Chi Omega

As the first national sorority to be founded on Bradley's campus the Mu Delta chapter of Chi Omega, is a society of college women, who are devoted to lasting freindships and the achievement of lifetime goals.

The Mu Delta chapter was founded on February 14, 1947. The 85 members of Chi Omega were very involved during the 1982-1983 year. On campus the members were active in the Merri-n-ettes, cheerleading, the tennis team, student government, Panhel and other campus activities. In the community they devoted their time and service to organizations like the Crippled Children's Home and they aided the elderly and the mentally retarded.

During the year Chi Omega proved that it was a vital part of the Bradley Greek system and the campus.

XΩ

Delta Sigma Theta

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. was founded in 1913 at Howard University, where the Founder's started an organization of college women pledged to serious endeavor and community service. These students demonstrated vital concern for social welfare, academic excellence and cultural enrichment. Their ideas of scholarship and service have withstood the test of time.

Today Delta Sigma Theta is a public service sorority emphasizing scholarship, character and service dedicated to a program of sharing membership and organizational skills in the public interest. In 1930, Delta Sigma Theta was incorporated as a national organization in Washington, D.C.

Starting out as an interest group known as Nue Delta on October 15, 1970, our chapter also envisioned a sorority on the Bradley campus, which would exemplify those ideals and goals of their founders. On February 13, 1971 the Theta Epsilon chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc., went National and at their installation Ball, on March 27, 1971, the formal announcement of the newly established chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc., Theta Epsilon Chapter was proclaimed.

Delta Zeta

In 1982-1983 the Bradley chapter of Delta Zeta sorority underwent re-colonization, but still remained active participants in Greek and campus activities. They had their first exchange with Alpha Epsilon Pi, and "good times" were had by all.

The recolonized chapter began a scholarship program which included weekly study tables, study buddies, and a group study skills program for the sole purpose of improving study skills. The results of this program appeared when Delta Zeta placed third among the Bradley sororities scholastically.

Finally, Delta Zeta fulfilled their philanthropic duties by visiting a nursing home in the Fall and by co-sponsoring a contest with Theta Chi to raise money for the Heart Association.

Gamma Phi Beta

Gamma Phi Beta sorority was very active this year with social, as well as other activities. They were active participants in Greek week and Derby Days as well as the other events sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic Council.

The women excelled in academics and still had fun throughout the year at formals and exchanges. But the activities that the Gamma Phi's enjoyed the most were the ones that they worked on together; whether it was going Si's together or just hanging out on the front steps on a warm day.

ΓΦΒ

Pi Beta Phi

ΠΒΦ

Pi Phis

If one looked carefully around the campus one could always find a Pi Phi involved and busy. During the year Pi Phis were active in Pan-Hel, Cheerleading, Athletics, Plays, ACBU, Dorm Staff, and many other student organizations. They were the 1982 Greek Week Champions, as well as the All Sorority Softball and the All Sports Champs.

Throughout the year the members visited nursing homes in the Peoria area as a part of their sorority's Philanthropic duties. They also participated in Campus Carnival with their Queen Candidate winning second place.

Socially, the Pi Phis were busy with exchanges with fraternities and they had a wine carnation formal, which added a special touch to a great year.

Sigma Delta Tau

Sigma Delta Tau sorority was very busy throughout the year as they worked towards fulfilling their goals. The sorority was founded at Bradley University in 1962, and was located in the present Phi Kappa Tau house until SDT built its new house across the street in 1964. During the year the women of Sigma Delta Tau excelled in academics and participated in all the events sponsored by Pan-Hellenic Council as well as Campus Carnival and Derby Days. All In all the year was successful for the women of Sigma Delta Tau.

Σ Δ Τ

Sigma Gamma Rho

Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc. was founded in 1922 on the campus of Butler University in Indianapolis, Indiana. The sorority was incorporated in 1929. The Zeta Phi chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho was founded at Bradley University in 1974. The chapter currently has three undergraduate members and ten graduate members.

During the past school year Sigma Gamma Rho has worked together with Alpha Phi Omega on the can food drive and also the blood drive. Sigma Gamma Rho also raised money for the March of Dimes and their National Foundation.

Sigma Kappa

The Sigma Kappa's started off the year with a newly landscaped front yard and a redecorated dining room. Yet it's not the house, but the girls in it that make Sigma Kappa's special on the Bradley campus. The girls see themselves as fun-loving, down to earth and more importantly, they're individuals.

Taking quota this year and being the only house to win money in the Miller Drive really made the year special. Freshman Missy McCord was crowned Derby Darling and SK captured second place in Derby Days competition. They also hosted a very successful State Day, with Sigma Kappa's from all over the state of Illinois participating.

Σ K

Zeta Phi Beta

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. was founded in 1920 at Howard University and was established at Bradley University in 1973. Its active members dedicated themselves to the ideals of scholarship, service, and sisterly love upon which the group was founded.

Zeta Phi Beta, although small on Bradley's campus it is a national organization with over 90,000 members all over the United States and in Africa. There are presently five active sorors on Bradley's campus; Soror Andrea Smith, Soror Cathy Kemp, Soror Sara Townsend, Soror Clifete Grinston, and Soror Melon-ese Reed.

ACBU

The Activities Council of Bradley University is a student run organization under the direction of the Student Activities Office. The main goals of the Activities Council are to unite students, faculty, and staff as one campus, to develop and maintain a good variety of programs and activities worthwhile to the students educationally and socially, and to develop good relations among the campus and community.

The decision making body consists of 15 committee coordinators and 4 executive committee members. All the students involved with ACBU are volunteers who use their skills in promoting and producing quality activities on the campus.

ACBU is the largest organization at Bradley and they provide over 90% of the programs and activities in the Bradley community. During the year ACBU sponsored events such as Phyllis Diller, Bella Abzug, The Vienna Choir Boys, Phil 'N' The Blanks and many, many more.

ASCE

The first engineering society in the United States, founded in 1888, was the American Society of Civil Engineers (A.S.C.E.). Today there are student and adult branches across the United States. The Bradley chapter was active during the year in closing the gap that exists between the educational aspects of engineering and the professional world.

American Marketing Asso.

Bradley's chapter of the American Marketing Association serves to promote interest and understanding in the field of marketing through various programs and events. During the past year these programs featured monthly guest speakers, discussions, and lectures, as well as trips and tours of local companies.

BACCHUS

BACCHUS, which means Boost Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students, is a chapter of the National BACCHUS and is a group of students whose aim is to reduce the problems on campus and in people's lives that are associated with alcohol use, abuse and by irresponsible behavior. The group does this by raising awareness of alcohol's effects; promoting the "Responsible Drinking" approach, which includes and supports both drinkers and non-drinkers; encouraging and sponsoring social activities which do not emphasize alcohol as a central theme; and to teach people how to drink and act responsibly, act assertively, and talk to peers about alcohol problems.

BACCHUS' Alcohol Information Center is located in the Counseling Center and is open to anyone seeking information about alcohol, assertiveness, and other related topics.

Black Student Alliance

The Black Student Alliance (BSA) is the umbrella organization for all other Black Student organizations on Bradley's campus. BSA is open to all students at Bradley University for membership. The purpose of the BSA is to provide for the social, academic, moral, political and philosophical concerns of Black students at Bradley, and in Peoria. The BSA seeks these ends with the use of such activities as voter registration drives, lecture series, entertainment and the annual Romeo B. Garrett Week celebration. The BSA also serves as a catalyst to promote further understanding among students at Bradley University.

Bradley Connection

The Bradley Connection is an all volunteer organization run through the office of Admissions and the office of Educational Development. It is a student outreach program, operating to provide information to prospective Bradley students. The Connection volunteers talk to high school seniors about college life in general, and about student life at Bradley.

Coordinating the program this year were April O'Marah, Admissions Officer, and Rob Bertram, Student Aide. Approximately 150 student volunteers were involved in the Program this year and they were guided by eight group leaders: Curt Carius, Sue Nations, Jim Aiu, Michelle Sullivan, Wende Brasloff, Deb Augsburg, Greg Colgan and Natalie Lane.

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club is a group open to all serious chemistry students. The organization is advised by Dr. Robert Gayhart and the group sponsors picnics, tours, seminars and tutoring for the chemistry department as well as other related activities.

Communications Council

Bradley's Communications Council is a new organization this year that was formed by Associate Provost for Student Affairs, Dr. Huddleston, to improve communication between the students and the administration. The members of the council are the presidents of Bradley's fifteen largest organizations. The group meets monthly and discusses various problems such as Basketball seating, campus improvements and other major topics of concern.

Construction Club

Thirty members composed this year's Construction Club, which was moderated by Professor F. Eugene Rebholz. The club, affiliated with the Associated General Contractors of America (AGC), was formed to give students the opportunity to gain construction knowledge outside the classroom. Activities such as industry-related movies and lectures and job site field trips as well as speakeasies and community projects filled the year.

The 1982-83 officers were: Warren Triol, President; Alvin Swearing, Vice President; Danny Cooney, Secretary; and J. Kevin O'Brien, Treasurer.

CEC

When one thinks of CEC one remembers: Exceptional Children's Week, Halloween parties, Christmas parties, St. Patrick's Day parties, Dedication ceremonies, end of the year banquets, conventions and most importantly, all the children whose lives were touched by the CEC activities. The past year's hard work has hopefully given each member a better understanding of what an exceptional child is. Through CEC the organization hopes that its members leave Bradley with good memories and ideas that will assist them in the future. The previous success of the CEC is due to the hard work and dedication that all its members, especially the seniors have contributed throughout the year.

Council For Women's Awareness

The Council for Women's Awareness is a diverse organization composed of students, faculty, staff and any other person's that are interested in the concerns of women, contributions of women and/or changing sex roles in society. CWA works cooperatively with many other organizations both on and off campus to sponsor lectures, films, panel discussions and other types of workshops and programs dealing with a variety of subjects such as rape and self-defense; The Equal Rights Amendment and equal rights and opportunities; women's health; birth control and sex education; and major political and social issues facing everyone.

CWA has been working on a Women's Resource Handbook and is building a store of information, pamphlets, books, etc. for a resource center on campus. Also planned for the Fall of '83 is a Women's Leadership Conference, films, and lectures as well as CWA's Women's Awareness Week activities.

B.U. Fashion Elegans

Bradley Elegans Fashion Models is a new organization that is made up of students intrested in learning how to present themselves to others in a positive manner. The members of Elegans presented two fashion shows during the year and many of the members participated in the Campus Carnival fashion shows that were held at Northwoods Mall.

During the year the organization spent time structuring the group so that they could begin the following year with enthusiasm and motivation.

Equestrian Club

Bradley's Equestrian Club is made up of students who are interested in horses. They increase their knowledge concerning horses by sharing their views and interests with the other members.

This year the Equestrian Club participated in various activities designed to educate the members. The club's members participated in Western and English riding lessons, watched films on horses and riding, and listened to lectures by professional horse trainers and instructors.

F.M.A.

What is FMA? FMA stands for the Fashion Merchandising Association, which is a campus wide organization. The FMA was established in 1978 by a group of Bradley students interested in bringing professional involvement in the fashion industry to the Bradley campus.

This past year FMA presented their annual fashion show, "It's Showtime", a color analysis workshop, demonstrated Aloe Vera products and several guest speakers were chosen to speak on all areas of the fashion industry.

Fishing Club

The Fishing Club is an organization for those people who enjoy the sport of fishing. The members of the group participate in a wide variety of events and activities, all which are related to the sport.

Throughout the year the members of the club went on several outings in the Illinois area.

Hospitality Corps

The Hospitality Corps is a group of about 250 Bradley students who take visiting students under their "wing" and show them around Bradley during their visit to campus. The Hospitality Corps is extremely busy during Fall and Spring Weekend when 250 high school juniors and seniors visit the Bradley campus to get a taste of college life at the school. This all volunteer organization is also run through the office of Admissions.

I.I.E.

The Bradley student chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers has been very active in the past few years. Some of the activities that the chapter has participated in are plant tours, speakers, conferences and visits to high schools and junior colleges.

The chapter has participated in the chapter development program of the national organization and has assisted in rejuvenating the Senior chapter of IIE here at Bradley. The intent of the chapter development program is to provide a list of valid projects which will be helpful to the students, the chapter, the institute and the educational institution. It also provides a basis for an award system that allows the national to recognize active chapters. This year out of 110 chapters, the Bradley chapter of IIE placed fourth. This is the fourth year in a row that the chapter has been in that position.

National Technical Asso.

The NTA, National Technical Association, is the oldest Black technical association in the nation. Established in 1925, NTA is the only nationwide organization dedicated to assuring that science and technology serve the needs of the minorities. As a student chapter of this organization, Bradley's NTA is responsible for sponsoring programs geared towards informing minority students of their career options in the fields of Science and Technology and assisting students in preparing for such careers.

In the past NTA has sponsored speakers in a wide variety of fields, held demonstrations of a technological or scientific nature, and taken field trips to places relating to Science and Technology. NTA has also undertaken projects in the Peoria community, especially working with high school students in examining career opportunities.

Progressive Student Alliance

The Progressive Student Alliance is a group of students dedicated to promoting free thought on many current social and political issues. All of the PSA's activities and programs during the 1982-1983 year were focused on increasing the Bradley student's awareness of these issues.

In the Fall PSA co-sponsored a lecture with ACBU and CWA during Women's Awareness Week. PSA also participated in the November protest against President Reagan's policies. Throughout the year the Progressive Student Alliance provided students with information concerning such problems as; the Nuclear Arms Race, the crisis in El Salvador, migrant workers, Third World liberation and women's rights.

Psychology Club

The Psychology Club of Bradley University is interested in exploring both psychology and humanity. Its bi-monthly meetings feature speakers from all areas within "the people profession" which helps students narrow down career goals and gain insight into graduate school requirements and expectations.

Some of the Psychology Club's members also perform volunteer work at Zeller Mental Health Center at various times throughout the month. This work usually involves playing volleyball, as well as interacting with the residents afterwards.

Publications Council

The Publications Council is composed of several Bradley faculty and administrators, as well as four student advisory representatives. The Council is the governing body for student publications such as the Scout, the Anaga, and Broadside.

Interviewing candidates for editor and business manager of each publication, approving all appointed staff positions, reviewing staff salaries and operating budgets and insuring that each publication is running smoothly.

In addition, the council keeps the by-laws updated and review the operating procedures set by the publications when necessary.

ROTC

In 1980-1981, the Reserve Officer training Corps (ROTC) program was introduced to the Bradley campus. Since its beginning on Bradley's campus the ROTC program has been developing and growing strong.

Students involved in the program receive a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army. Bradley has a two year program that involves themes of leadership and management.

Scout

The function of the Bradley Scout is to inform the student body of on campus events, as well as current local issues and national issues. The newspaper prints about 25 issues each year and during 1982-1983 the paper covered such stories as the President's visit to Peoria, the all school elections, the Vienna Choir Boys concert, school sports, and other topics important to the campus and the Bradley community.

During the 1982-83 the Scout had its most successful year in terms of advertising and profits were increased by 40%. The increase in Advertising Sales was accomplished by the ads Manager, Larry Gordon. The 1982-1983 Editor in Chief for the Scout was Rose Liddell.

Simulations Games Club

The Simulation Games' Club is an organization which promotes competitive spirit through role playing games and board games. The club sponsors a games fair in the fall and other tournaments throughout the year. The club also helped sponsor all-nighters at the student center for the enjoyment of the entire campus.

S.A.M.

Initiated in 1958, Bradley's Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management (S.A.M.) is the operating unit of the American Management Association, the world's largest clearing house of management knowledge. S.A.M. provides students with an opportunity to experience and develop management skills and prepare for the transition from college to the business world.

SABRC

The Student Activity Budget Review Committee (SABRC), a 14 member student-faculty board, is responsible for allocating the student activity funds to Bradley's student organizations. Any student organization can appeal for funds from SABRC. The committee listens to budget requests each Spring and then allocates funds to the groups according to the merit of the budget request.

The committee is chaired by the all school treasurer and is made up of 5 faculty - staff advisors and 8 student members.

SANA

The nuclear arms issue has been one of the most pressing issues facing people over the past few years. The issue as it is has an influence on all our lives and the members of S.A.N.A., Students Against Nuclear Arms, spent the year trying to increase student's awareness of the various aspects of the issue.

During the year the members set up an information table in the Student Center and solicited for signatures for a petition demanding a nuclear freeze. Several members attended several conventions where they obtained current information concerning the issue and returned to campus to distribute this information to the community.

Student Arbitration Board

The Student Arbitration Board consists of five members. The three student representatives, which are approved by Student Senate, serve on the board until they graduate. The two non-student members are appointed by the president of the University. The board gives students an opportunity to be heard when there is a violation of University or traffic regulations, or when there is a conflict between students on campus. Previously a supreme court for the entire University, the present board evolved in the mid-1960's.

Student Senate

The Bradley University Student Senate is a body of representatives elected by the students each Fall. The Senate is charged with the task of effectively dealing with all campus issues as well as protecting and maintaining the rights of each Bradley student.

This past year the Senate dealt with such difficult issues as the proposed basketball seating for students, lab fees, and the closing of Lovelace cafeteria. Other issues of importance of the students were the proposed renovations of the Lovelace quad and campus security.

Toward the end of the year the Senate sponsored their annual All School officers elections. This year's elections were surrounded by a whirlwind of controversy about election procedures. However, the Senate and various campus agencies dealt with the situation and in the end a qualified executive board was chosen to lead Senate for another year.

Tour Guides

When a visiting student arrives on campus one of the most important aspects of the visit is the chance to meet with a current Bradley student and get that student's viewpoint on Bradley University. The Bradley Tour Guides are a select group of current Bradley students who are responsible for relaying that all important Bradley student point of view to a visitor and their family. Often this tour can be the deciding factor in a student's decision to attend the University. The 1982-1983 Tour Guides were a vital part of the Office of Admissions and its day to day functions.

Young Volunteers In Action

Young Volunteers in Action is a new organization to Bradley's campus. The organization was formed mid-way into the academic year in conjunction with the College of Education. The main objectives of the organization are to provide service and aid to the Bradley community.

International Affairs Org.

Although most of the students who attend Bradley University are from the continental United States there are students from other countries. Due to the efforts of one foreign student, an organization was formed to increase the contact between his country and the United States.

Friends of Great Britain is a well know organization which promotes a greater awareness between two countries through social activities. The organization is one of several organizations developed by foreign students to increase communication between countries.

Friends Of Great Britian

The International Affairs Organization (IAO) is a campus wide student organization which was developed in 1976 under the auspices of the Institute of International Studies and a group of IS majors. From this small beginning the organization has opened its doors to all Bradley students both in terms of membership and the activities offered.

The IAO is composed of five executive board members and about forty members. The membership includes all students interested in presenting activities concerning political, economic, social, and historical events on the international level.

Throughout the year the group sponsored many events which were very successful. The 1982- 1983 academic year has presented one of its most successful Film Series both in terms of attendance and the quality of the movie shown.

Latino Student Asso.

The Latino Student Association is a group of students who provide academic, cultural, and social activities for the benefit of the campus' Latin American students and the Bradley community.

During the 1982-1983 academic year the Latino Student Association sponsored its first Latino Week called, "Bradley Goes Latino". The organization sponsored several events throughout the week in an effort to promote an increased awareness of Latin American culture and problems in the Peoria area.

Lebanese Student Asso.

The Lebanese Students Association is an officially recognized group of the Lebanese government and the only representative of the Lebanese students in the United States. The organization is a national group and their headquarters is stationed in Washington, D.C.

The objective of the Lebanese Students Association is to build a cross-cultural understanding between the United States and the country of Lebanon and to strengthen the ties between the countries and their peoples.

Islamic Student Society

The Islamic Student Society is a religious society that began in the Fall of 1980 and has grown to become a chapter of the M.S.A., the Muslim Student Association of the United States and Canada. The I.S.S.'s main objectives are to strengthen the bond between muslim students, and to increase their education and knowledge of Islamism.

Currently, the membership of the I.S.S.

stands at sixteen members and every year the I.S.S. members elect an executive committee which runs the organization.

Among the activities that the organization sponsors is a Friday afternoon prayer meeting and daily morning prayer sessions. Other activities include group discussions and other lectures as well as a biweekly newsletter.

Bradley University Chorale

The Bradley University Chorale, a mixed choir of 50 voices, under the direction of Dr. John Davis, has gained a wide reputation for artistic choral singing through their concert tours, radio broadcasts and telecasts. They have sung at the National Cathedral and the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., the St. Louis Cathedral in New Orleans, the Air Force Academy Chapel in Colorado Springs, and Town Hall in New York City. In the Summers of 1968, 1970, 1973, 1976, and 1979, and 1982, the Chorale made European concert tours, performing in England, Spain, Holland, France, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Italy. A highlight of the 1973 was a concert given in the magnificent Chartres Cathedral. The highlight of the 1976 tour was winning the International Choral Competition in Tour, France.

Most recently, the Choral won four prizes at the International Choral Competition in Tour, France. The Chorale also sang at the famous Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, France.

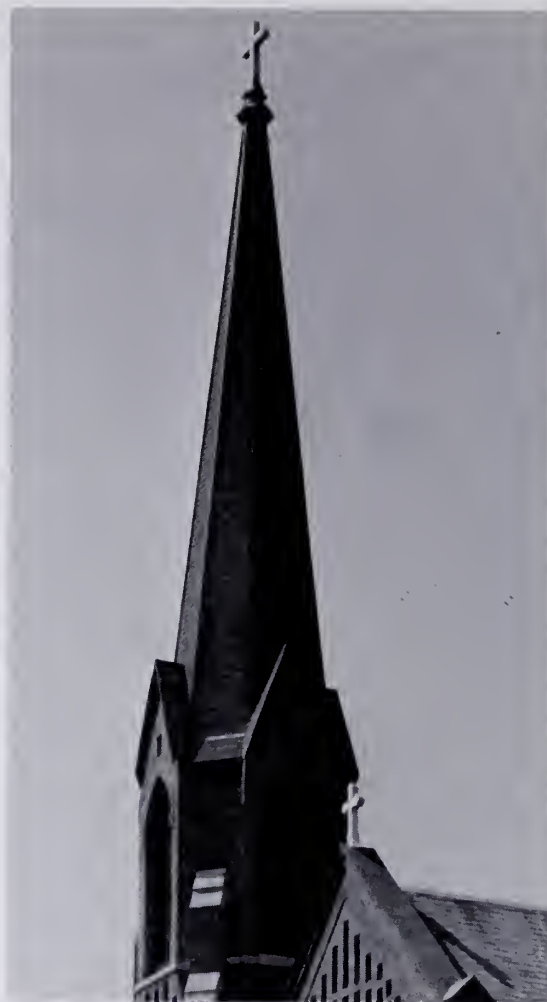

Symphonic Winds

Officially known as the Symphonic Winds, Bradley's band plays all types of band and arranged orchestral music. Under the direction of Dr. Melvin Pontious the band performed several concerts throughout the school year, including the ones for Parent's Weekend. During the year the Symphonic winds entertained the community with their musical endeavors while their rehearsal/recital hall was being renovated.

University Chorus

The University chorus is a nonaudition choir made up of students who enjoy singing. The group meets once a week and prepares for a small concert that they perform once each semester. The students earn a half a credit for their involvement in the organization, however, they do not take the course for the credit but for the enjoyment they receive from singing.

Bradley Christian Fellowship

Bradley Christian Fellowship is a chapter of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship (IVCF), which is a nationwide campus organization dedicated to serving Jesus Christ. Bradley Christian Fellowship (BCF) is a part of a national movement that provides conferences, camps, and training opportunities. IVCF is affiliated with the International Fellowship of Evangelical Students. The group's activities included weekly organizational meetings for fellowship, teaching, and praise; nightly meetings for prayer; and weekly small group meetings for Bible study, prayer community, and outreach.

During the year BCF sponsored guest speakers like Dr. C. Stephen Evans of Yale University and Dr. James Sire. The 1982-1983 Executive Board included Seth Dibblee, Sue Locke, Paul Funk, Holly Smith, Pat Tan, Steven Amborski, James Lorenz, and Kathy Mohler.

Newman Center

The Newman Community is an organization, located at 1203 West Bradley Avenue, which has served the Bradley University campus in many ways. In the Bradley community, this Roman Catholic religious group has a large number of members. Directed by Sister Rachel Bergschneider, and assisted by Father Ted Wolgamot, along with a twelve member executive board, the Newman community took part in many activities.

Projects included numerous retreats, dinners, parties and social action and justice programs. Newman also offered such programs as Masses, penance, Bible prayer study and discussion groups, along with having a student choir.

The Newman organization began in 1893 as a service to students, and follows the teachings of Catholic religious leader Cardinal John H. Newman. The Bradley Newman Center is one of many national Newman Centers serving various University communities.

Navigators

The Navigators is one of several religious oriented organizations on Bradley University's campus. The group is advised by Dr. Haverhals and their main objectives are to foster a more personal relationship with Jesus Christ, to encourage and work toward a commitment of life to him, and to attain an effective knowledge of the scriptures.

APO

The Zeta Alpha chapter of Alpha Phi Omega was chartered at Bradley in 1948 and has been promoting leadership, friendship, and service ever since. In the past year APO has sponsored many activities which were aimed at aiding the campus and community.

In 1982-1983 Alpha Phi Omega sponsored a campus blood donor drive, a canned foods drive, several Casino Nights, and participated in Campus Carnival. Members of the fraternity worked at Wildlife Prairie Park and spent time working with senior citizens, Cub Scouts, and several underprivileged children.

Also, the chapter sponsored its own social functions ranging from a formal to parties, to road trips to other APO chapters. This year the APO membership was strong with 80 active members.

Kappa Omicron Phi

Kappa Omicron Phi is one of three national honor societies in the field of home economics. In this group emphasis is placed not only on intellectual and scholastic excellence but on personal values and concern for fellow humans. Thus, Kappa Omicron Phi focuses on the total development of students and their commitment to professional and personal ideals.

The guiding principle of Kappa Omicron Phi is stated as; a pledge to develop individuals with higher ideals of sane living, with deeper appreciation of the sanctity of the home, and with broader social and higher intellectual and cultural attainments.

The Alpha Tau chapter worked hard throughout the year to achieve these goals and ideals.

Mu Epsilon Pi

Mu Epsilon Pi is the name of the honorary organization of International Studies majors. Mu Epsilon Pi (MEP) is a coed organization and throughout the year the group provides tutoring for the International Studies students. In the past year MEP played an important role in reviewing the curriculum of the International Studies Department.

Phi Alpha Theta

The Gamma Beta chapter of Phi Alpha Theta was founded at Bradley University in 1949. Phi Alpha Theta is an international honor society for outstanding students of history. The organization requires that each member complete a minimum of twelve semester hours in the study of history with a grade point average above 3.0.

Phi Alpha Theta met regularly during the year and participated in all regional and national conventions by sending delegations consisting of students and faculty.

Phi Chi Theta

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia

Helping spread music throughout the campus were the brothers of the Delta Nu chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. Phi Mu Alpha is a professional fraternity for men in music and during the 1982-1983 year the members worked hard to increase and promote both the performance and creation of music on the campus.

In the Fall and Spring Phi Mu Alpha presented several concerts on campus and in the community. At Christmas time the brothers sold singing Christmas cards as a way of raising funds for their annual scholarship competition. In the Spring the fraternity also made donations to organizations that provided music for the Peoria area.

Also during the year the Delta Nu chapter staged all recitals on the campus as they continued to work towards their fraternal goals.

Sigma Alpha Iota

Sigma Alpha Iota (SAI) is an international music fraternity for women, dedicated to furthering the high standards of musicianship and the emphasis of American music. Sigma Alpha Iota's members are brought together by their love of music.

During the past year SAI has supported music in the community by underwriting the broadcast of Haydn's "Creation" on WCBU and performing during a volunteer benefit. Besides supporting other music groups SAI has its own choir and sponsors its own musicales. The chapter also has many social activities like parties, dances and rush functions.

The members of SAI are an important part of the Bradley Division of Music. The members provide all the ushering for all the concerts sponsored by the Music department. The members work hard throughout the year in the hopes of fulfilling the objectives of the organization.

Sigma Lambda Chi

Sigma Lambda Chi is an honorary fraternity whose fundamental purpose is the recognition of outstanding students who are pursuing a course of study in Construction. The major objectives of Sigma Lambda Chi are to render service to the major, develop good public relations between the campus and the group, and good relations with industry and the public, and the recognition of outstanding professionals in the construction industry.

Sigma Tau Delta

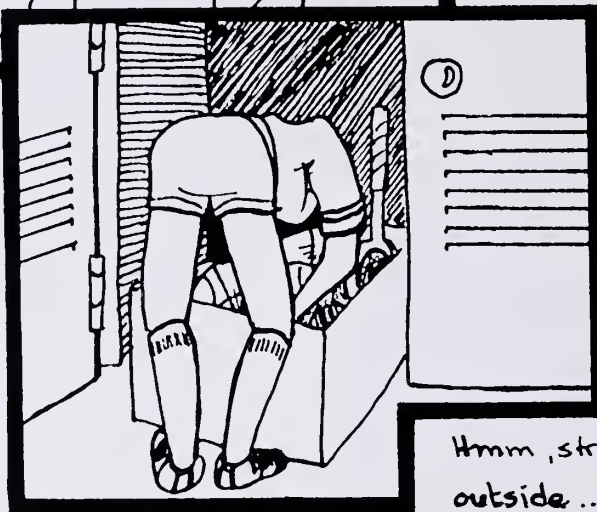

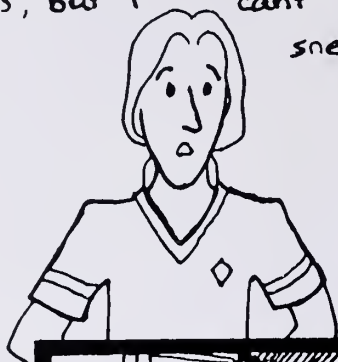

Sigma Tau Delta is the national honor society for outstanding English majors in the country.

Bradley's Beta Lambda chapter is comprised of approximately fifteen members from both the undergraduate and graduate levels. During the year the organization sponsors lectures and other activities that center on literary criticism, readings, and films.

Gee whiz! I'm ready to go play tennis, but I can't find my sneakers.

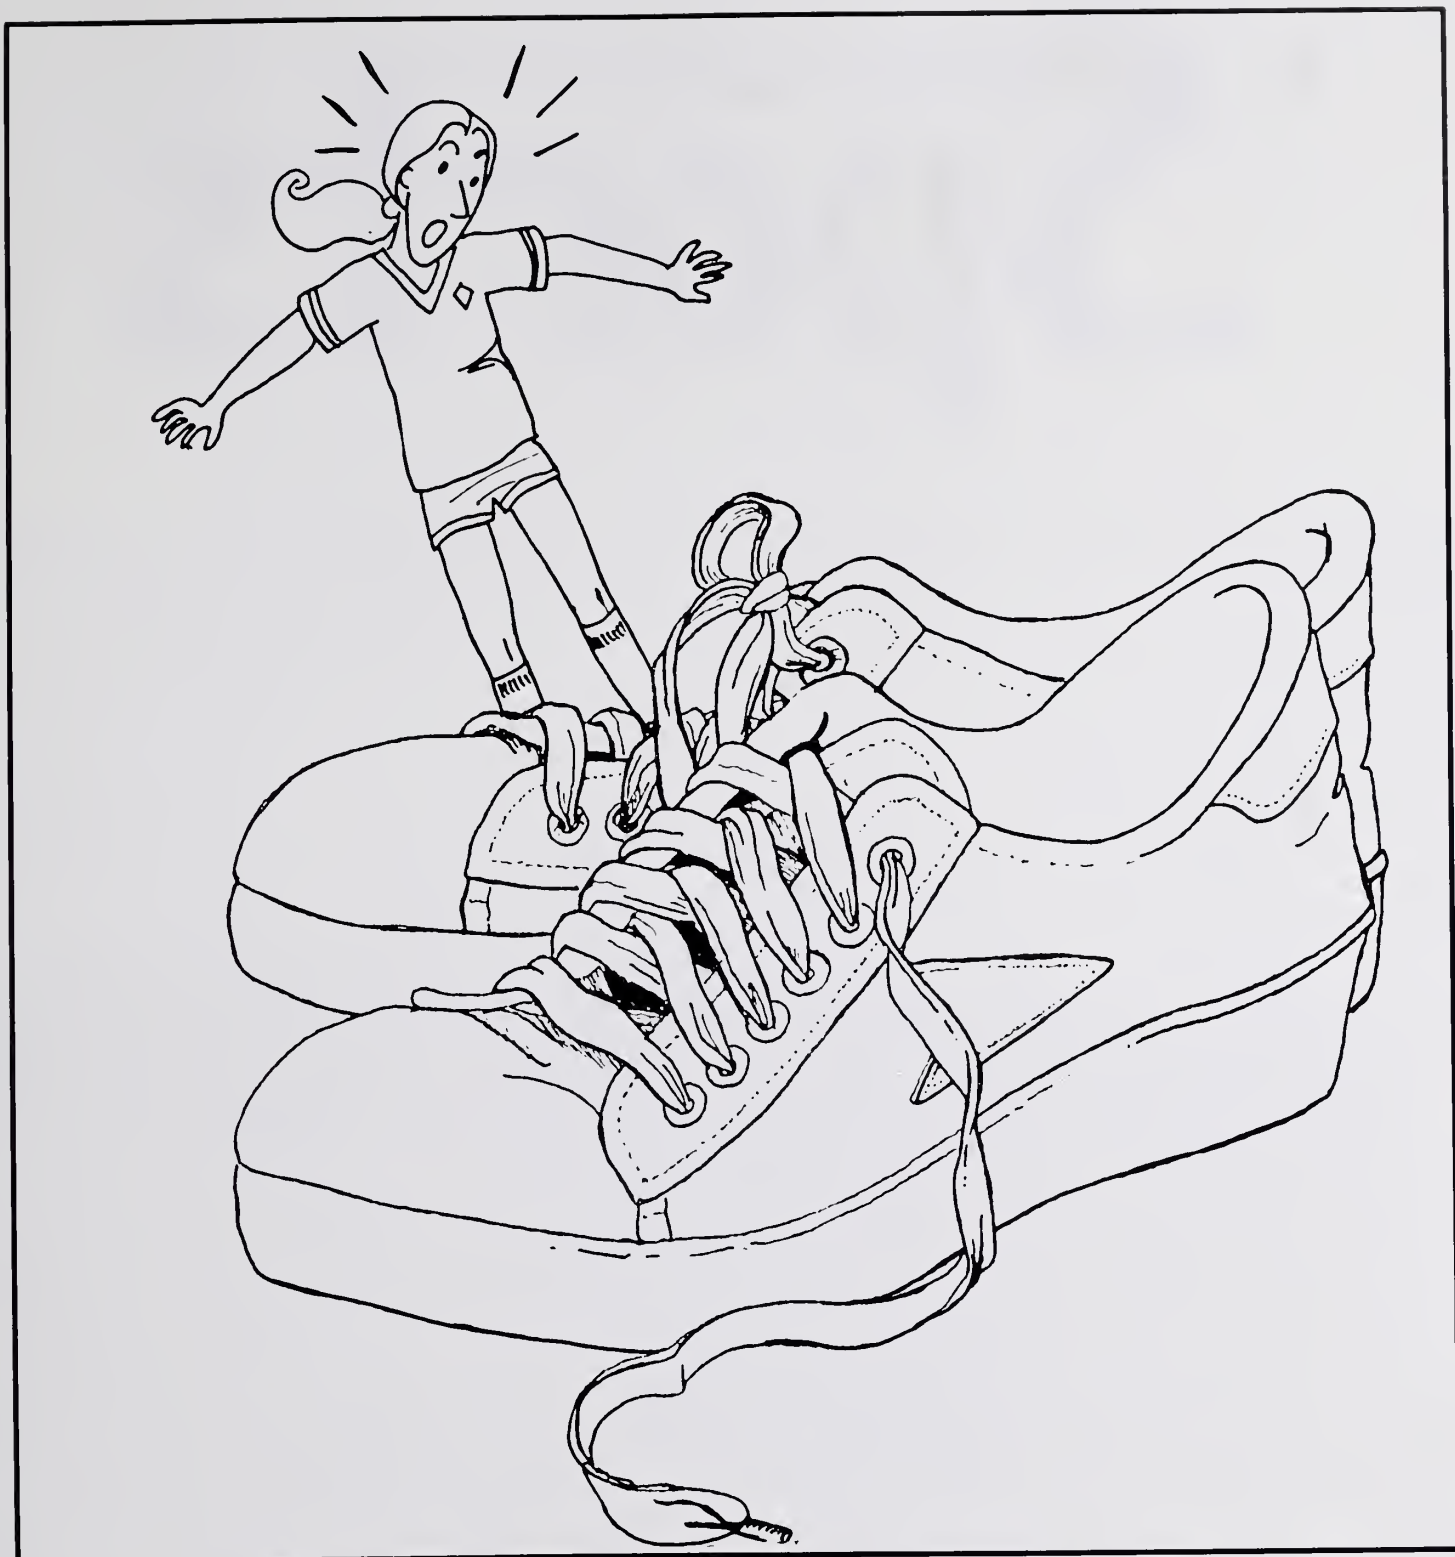

Sometimes I could swear they have a life of their own.

Hmm, strange. Maybe they're outside...

CROSS-COUNTRY

Under the supervision of coaches Jake Schoof and Ed McGraw the 13 member cross country team had a good year. The team captain was junior Curt Carius and along junior Eric Huey these two members lead the team through a tough season.

Only one meet was at home against Illinois State University. All other meets took the Bradley cross country team all over the midwest. This year's squad consisted of 1 senior, 5 juniors, 4 sophomores, and 3 freshman. Junior Eric Huey is the only runner in the University's history to receive the Strider award given to members of the Bradley cross country team.

BRADLEY BRAVES

Last season the Bradley' Braves were one of the major sports stories in the country, however this season the Braves were not in the limelight. After plugging the gap left by three NBA draft choices, the Braves hung around the .500 mark for most of the season until a late surge of eight wins in 12 games gave them a respectable 16-13 record. But their MVC title was lost to Wichita State as the Braves placed fifth and then, even though there was little hope for a repeat, the NIT selection committee decided not to invite the defending tournament champions back.

The season's 16-13 record represented Bradley's fourth winning season in a row, a feat which hadn't happened at Bradley since the 1969-1972 seasons. During the year Willie Scott broke the record for career assists. The captains of the Braves during the season were Seniors; Eddie Mathews, Barney Mines, and Willie Scott.

As the Braves began the season the players had to adjust to a change in environment as they moved from the Robertson Memorial Fieldhouse to the Peoris Civic Center. The Braves made the transition quickly and set high attendance records of 154,209 or 9,638 per game.

All in all it was an up-and-down year which saw the Braves under .500 as late as February 12 when, after losing at Tulsa, they stood at 10-11. But the Braves won six of their final eight to finish 16-13. In all there were 2 two game winning streaks, 1 three game winning streak and 1 four game winning streak while on the loss side their were their were four two game losing streaks. However the Braves never dropped three in a row. They were 1-1 in overtime games, 10-8 and fifth in conference, 13-3 at home and 3-9 on the road.

TENNIS

1983 Men's Tennis Schedule

Following a good season in 1982 the Braves Tennis team was well prepared for the 1983 season. Tom Coker, the team's coach began his 27th year as Bradley's tennis coach as the Braves started their season against Illinois-Chicago. In the past Coker has lead the team to many victories making his lifetime record 302-192, which makes him one of the most successful tennis coaches in the country.

This year's squad consists of one senior, four juniors and four freshman. Paul Nagy, the only senior on the squad is the captain of the team and has held the title of most valueable player for the team for the last two seasons.

BASEBALL

1983 Baseball Schedule

Since 1947 the Braves' Baseball team has been first in the Missouri Valley Conference six times and has never placed below fifth in its division. Following last season's third place position in the Conference the Braves began a long season with strong enthusiasm.

The twenty-eight member team began their season in Albuquerque, New Mexico in mid-March and finished the season in Peoria against Southern Illinois University. The team's coach was Dewey Kalmar, who began his fourth season as Baseball coach, and he was aided by Dave Rodgers, Paul Merdian, Medgar Armstrong, and co-captains Jim Lindeman and Bob Windy.

SWIMMING

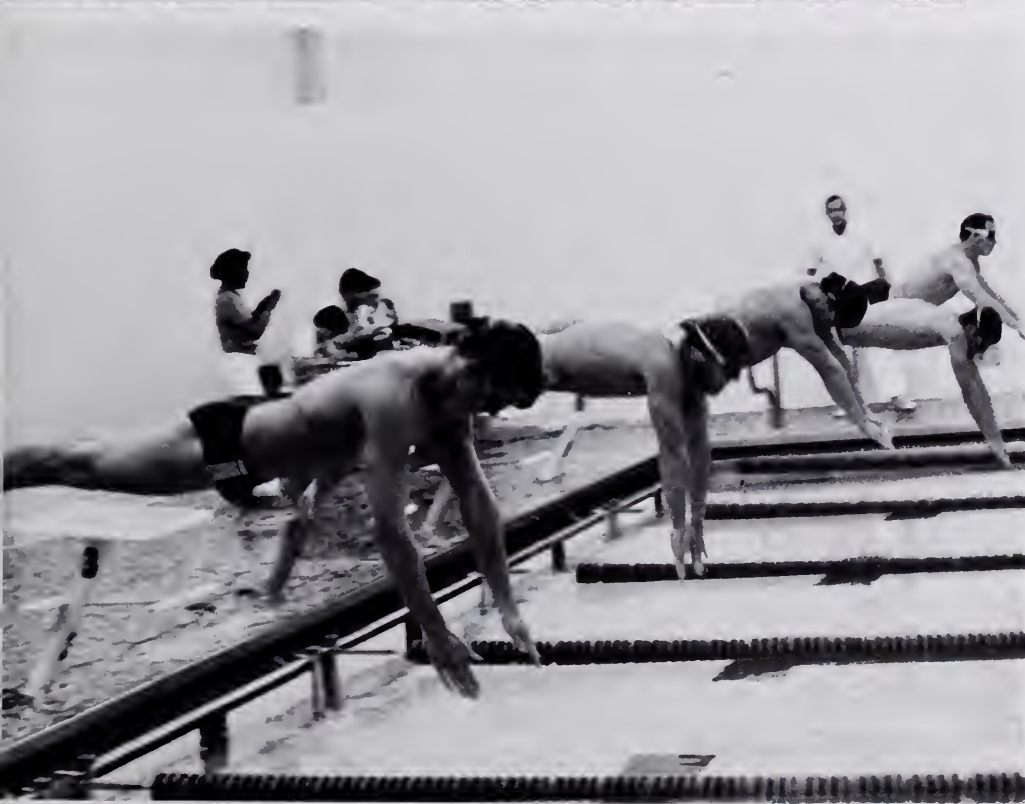

The Haussler Hall pool has meant nothing but success for the Bradley swimming team in the past six years. The Braves have compiled an overall record of 56-15 during the last six years while also racking up 15 of 21 pool records. The coach for the Bradley swimming team is Jim Spink who has been coaching the team for 24 seasons.

Three seniors lead the team this season and they were Mike Kohler, Ray Perisin, and Scott Herrell. The team consisted of 21 members and the team participated in 14 tournaments. This season ten freshman joined the team increasing its size tremendously. With the added strength the squad worked hard for a successful season.

LADY BRAVES

As the new ladies basketball season began coach Joe Stowell and the team had much to look forward to. Stowell saw his 13 year tenure as men's head coach end in 1978 and last year as head coach of the Ladies Basketball team he took his squad through a tough season. The team led the entire nation in scoring and ended with a record of 19-8.

Following there successful season the Lady Braves started this season with enthusiasm and determination. The twelve girl squad worked hard during the season to keep up the record they had the season before.

VOLLEYBALL

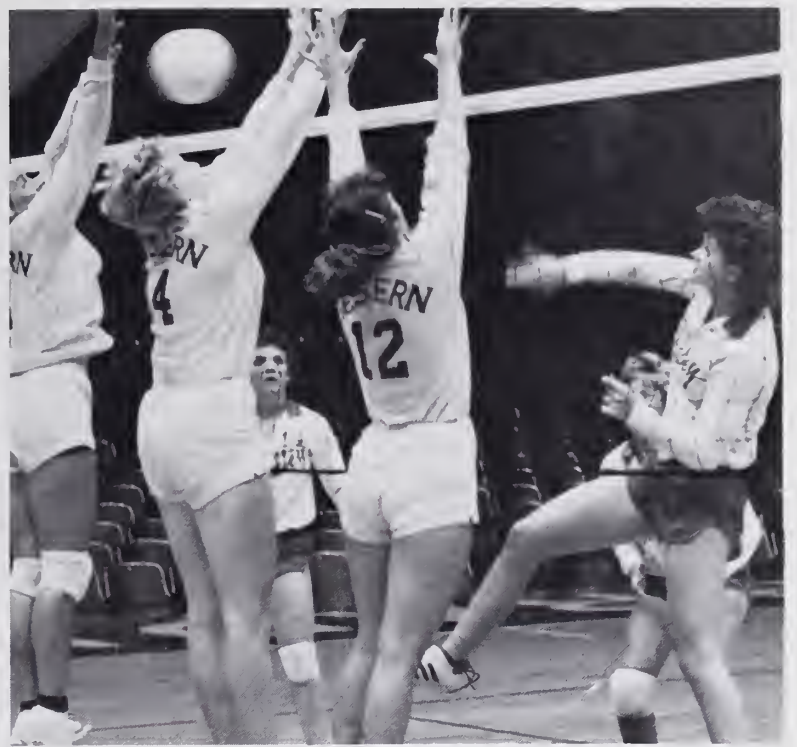

The Bradley Lady Braves Volleyball team started off the season with a new coach, Pam Stanek. Stanek spent the past five years at Northwest Missouri State University and guided the Bearkittens to the Missouri State Division II championships in 1980 and has produced an overall record of 177-93-6.

As the replacement to Darlene Kluka, Stanek becomes the third volleyball coach at Bradley in the past three years and began the season with enthusiasm and determination. The fourteen member squad looked forward to working with the new coach in the season and hoped for a good season. Although the squad is young, 10 freshman and three sophomores, the coach feels the season could be its best ever.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

As the new Women's Tennis season began the coach and the players looked forward to a good season. Mike Price, entering his second season as coach of the Tennis team, is respected by his players and opposing coaches alike. He is the club pro at the Peoria Racquet Club, and last season the team rebounded, after winning only six decisions, to capture fourth place in the tough Missouri Valley Conference.

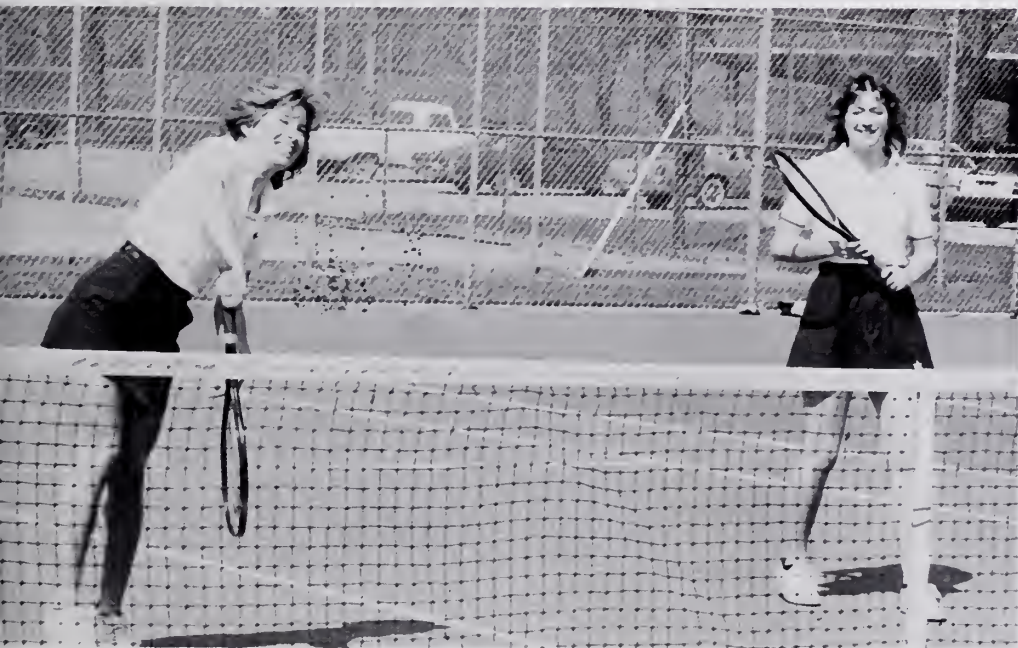

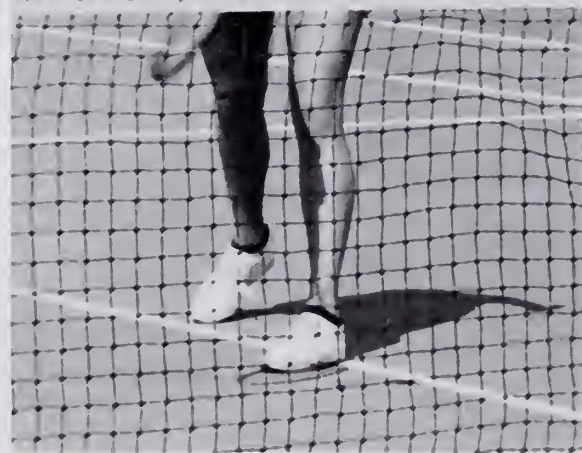

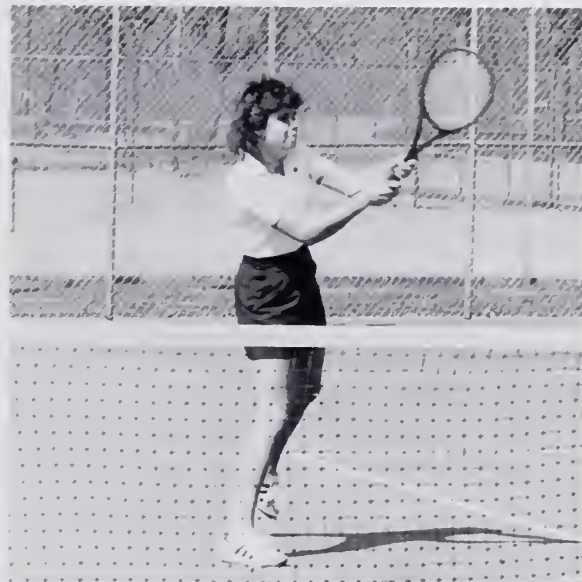

This year's squad was headed by junior, Julie Barber, and consisted of two seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman.

SOFTBALL

1983 Lady Braves Softball Schedule

This season was the first for Lady Braves Softball coach Clint Wilson. Wilson, an employee of the Peoria Police department, has been involved in local softball for over 15 years. With the addition of Wilson the Braves hoped to improve their softball records in the upcoming season. Wilson was assisted by Gail Leader as assistant coach and team captains, Cheryl Forgason, Pat Tarwid, Melanie Thurman.

This years squad consisted of three seniors, seven juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen. Wilson is the third coach for the squad in three years and in the past the team has been placing third and fourth in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The Bradley Cheerleading squad began the season with ten new members of the sixteen member squad. The year is being considered a re-building year by the coach, Gregg Neal. Neal is starting his eighth season as cheerleading coach, and according to him the squad showed more potential than other squads in previous years.

Not only were the cheerleaders faced with the problem of having many new members, the squad also had to adjust to the switch to the new Civic Arena, which is much larger than the Robertson Memorial Fieldhouse. The coach feels that the squad will have use the year to re-build and adjust, however, he was equally confident that the squad would remain as good as in previous years.

INTRAMURALS

The Intramurals program at Bradley is one that draws participation from all groups on the campus. Greeks and independents, women and men, all compete throughout the year.

In the Fall students participated in Football, Softball, Golf, Tennis, Bowling and Volleyball.

Throughout the Winter Basketball was the most popular intramural sport, although people participated in Water polo, Raquetball, Turkey Trot, Table Tennis, and a few other sports.

Closing the Intramurals program this year were Wrestling, Softball, Soccer, Swimming, Badminton, Billiards, and Track.

& SENIORS

College Of Business

The objective of the College of Business Administration is to provide its students with an educational foundation in both the administrative and managerial aspects of business. The college tries to prepare students for the real world and senior business executives from Peoria and the rest of the nation serve as members of the school's National Council of Advisors, which assists the school in making its programs applicable to the current business world.

Through the College of Business Administration, undergraduates can earn degrees in accounting, economics, finance, management, marketing, and operations management/information systems. Outside activities that help prepare students for graduation are cooperative education positions, the Accounting Internship Program, the Small Business Institute, the Tax Clinic, the Urban Affairs Institute, and various Student Research Projects.

The cooperative education program within the College of Business has become very active in the past year with many students participating in the program. This program reflects the college's belief that such on hands work experience is vital in preparing students for the business world.

Another outside activity that has been expanding is the Urban Affairs Institute. The Institute manages a total of $500,000 in grants and contracts in working for the objective of making the college a focal point for research and service in Central Illinois.

Other developments in the College of Business Administration include the hiring of seven new faculty in the past two years. Enrollment in the College of Business Administration has stabilized; however, enrollment in the minors has increased from 75 to 200 in the past year.

Most recently the College of was re-accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Business Schools. The College is one of 231 schools out of 1200 in the country to be awarded this honor.

College Of Communications And Fine Arts

The College of Communications and Fine Arts has expanded and excelled in the past year. Throughout the year the College endeavored to improve the quality of education it was giving its students. It developed its programs in extra-curricular activities and tried to improve the facilities available to the students.

Academically, the College spent time re-evaluating the Mass Communications Program and introduced a Creative Advertising major. Enrollment in the College stabilized overall, however there were slight declines in the music and art programs. Approximately 500 students were working towards degrees in Art, Music, Journalism, Theater arts Mass Communications, and Speech Communication. In the future the college is considering a program in Electronic graphics, in an attempt to meet the needs of its students.

Also in an attempt to meet the needs of its students the College began the renovations on the building on Barker Avenue. The construction is scheduled to be completed this Fall and the renovations were made possible through a large grant by Mrs. Mabel Dingledine, after whom the building will be named. In the next few years the College hopes to replace Duryea Hall, which is in need of repairs.

Extra-curricularly, the College excelled with two of its organizations receiving national and international recognition. The Bradley Speech Team once again was acclaimed nationally as one of the best teams in the nation. The Bradley Chorale returned to the campus in August following a very successful European Tour during which the Chorale won four prizes in a large international choral competition.

In the next few years the College of Communications and Fine Arts plans to continue to expand as it continues to strive to meet the needs of its students in a quickly changing world.

College Of Education

The College of Education sought to reach beyond the simple academic realms last year as new programs were added to the department. Enrollment in the school took a slight downturn, but the possibility of a rise was evident. One addition to the college was a micro-computer lab, which was installed in the education building. The special education program benefited from this addition as students used the computer in their work with children.

The College of Education, which resides in Westlake Hall, offers Undergraduate students degrees in Elementary Education, Secondary Education, Special Education and Home Economics. Graduate students can receive a Master of Arts or a Master of Science in either elementary or secondary education. Currently there are 23 faculty members working in the College of Education under the supervision of Dr. Steve Permuth. There are an estimated 350 students enrolled in the College of Education and the College's administrators hope to increase the enrollment by adding programs to the department.

Other programs in addition to the micro-computer lab were made possible through grants. Student Volunteers in Action began and the program is being coordinated by the College of Education. Through this program students learn through work experiences while aiding the Peoria community. The Foreign Language Emergent Program, which is being run this summer and the following summer is also being run in conjunction with the College of Education.

All the programs that were being instituted throughout the year were striving towards allowing students to gain valuable knowledge through work experience. The College of Education is attempting to expand to meet the needs of current education students and through this expansion the College hopes to increase its success and enrollment.

College Of Engineering

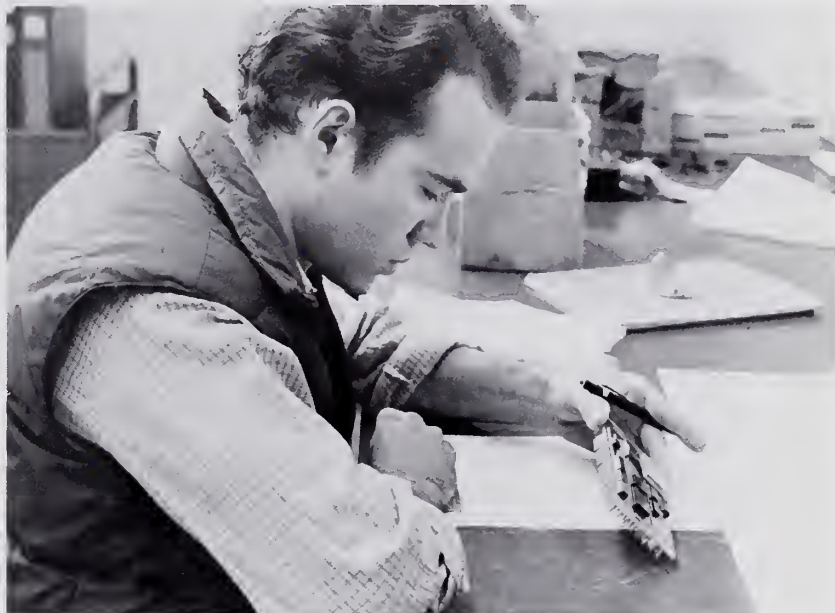

The College of Engineering and Technology continued to grow and improve over the past year as a large number of students applied for admission to the school. The College raised their standards for admission and continued to try and change to meet the needs of its students. Faculty numbers increased in the college as the demand for the college's graduates grew. The college administrators believed that they were working with very good students, who were interested and motivated and much more career oriented than in the past.

The College offers 11 undergraduate degrees in the various aspects of Engineering, Technology, Construction and Manufacturing. The objectives of the undergraduate curricula focus on the attainment of professional competence, the achievement of intellectual maturity and personal growth, and the development of social responsibility. All of the college's programs seek to facilitate creative communication between technologists engineers and scientists, and those educated in the liberal arts and other disciplines. The College's courses provide the basic bodies of knowledge with which the methods and the philosophies of engineering and engineering technology are developed. The educational experiences stress professionalism for both today and the future.

The College touches the community with the senior projects program. The projects of the senior industrial engineering students benefit the community and expose the students to the working world. Other senior projects are concentrated within the college. The College of Engineering and Technology is the thriving college at Bradley and as long as it draws competent, high quality students it will continue to grow and strive to meet the needs of its students.

College Of Health Sciences

The College of Health Sciences is composed of two divisions: Nursing and Speech and Hearing Sciences. Both divisions provide their students with excellent clinical experience and both are exploring the expansion of their programs as is the college as a whole. One obvious change in the college is the move in the Fall of 1982 of the Division of Nursing from Bradley Hall to Burgess Hall. The Division of Nursing joined the Division of Speech and Hearing Sciences which had been located in Burgess since 1976, and this move provided the College with a central location for all activities.

The Division of Nursing prepares its students for practice as a professional nurse in a variety of settings. A vital aspect of this preparation is the wide range of practicum sites available to Bradley students. Thirty-four sites are available, including hospitals, nursing homes, community health agencies, medical centers, schools, mental health and occupational health sites, clinics, and infant/child care centers and all in the Peoria area. Areas being explored by the division include school nurse certification as part of the baccalaureate program requirements and a masters program in nursing.

The Division of Speech and Hearing Science has experienced growth in its graduate program with emphasis in Audiology. Emphasis in Speech Pathology is also offered in the graduate program. Active research characterizes both the graduate and undergraduate programs in the division. The Hawley Speech, Language and Hearing Clinic, operated by the division, is an excellent resource for student and community research. The focus of Bradley's undergraduate program in Speech and Hearing Sciences is a pre-professional program which prepares students for graduate study at Bradley or elsewhere.

The College as a whole is exploring the possibility of a minor in gerontology, which is the study of aging. This is a very timely exploration since the age structure of our nation is changing to a greater concentration of elderly. The College also realizes that many opportunities for observation of the elderly are available in the area. Such new programs as gerontology would be a great contribution to the Health Sciences College and its attempt to meet the students demands.

College Of Liberal Arts And Sciences

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences was kept busy throughout the year coping with the increasing demands of its students. Enrollment in the College has stabilized, however, the Computer Science department had experienced a tremendous increase in its enrollment. Changes within the College include hiring new faculty members, improving the equipment, improving the curriculum and developing the masters program in the College.

Major attention was given towards preparing for the implementation of the new general education requirements, adopted in 1982, which will go into effect with the incoming freshman class. The new requirements will replace the group requirements and the school hopes that the new requirements will upgrade the level of liberal arts education at Bradley.

The new requirements have been divided into two groups: basic skills, which includes English Composition, Mathematics, Speech, and Computer Science, and the general education requirements, which include Western Civilization, Non-Western Civilizations, Human Values, Fine Arts, Social Forces and Institutions, and Science and Technology. Students will still have some freedom of choice within the general requirements, however, the objectives of the program are now more clearly defined. The College began revising the program with the intention of giving students a more rounded Liberal Arts education.

The general studies requirements are only one revision that the department is undertaking during the year. The College is meeting the demands for new interdisciplinary programs within the College. Both the Women's Studies program and the Black Studies program were experiencing development throughout the year. A director for the Black Studies program was being searched out and a minor in Women's Studies was created.

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is a multi-faceted college and spent the year striving to meet the needs of the modern University student.

Academic Exploration Program

Bradley's Academic Exploration Program is a nationally recognized approach to assisting the undecided student in finding a major and a career. It includes seminars, testing, and the opportunity for career observation and advisement.

The seminars are a part of the Academic Exploration 100 program, which is a voluntary, non-credit course which the students attend in their first semester in the program. Skills such as goal-setting, problem solving, decision making, and program planning are discussed, and students provide input concerning topics on careers that they decide they want more information about. Students may take advantage of the testing services provided by the Human Evaluation Center, which can help clarify performance levels, interests, aptitudes and personality traits.

Career observation is made available by the Footsteps program, which is sponsored by the Student Aides. The program is designed to give students the opportunity to examine career possibilities and requirements by spending a day with someone in a specific field and learning about a career through involvement in the career. Through this program students can explore many different fields

Advisement is a key part of the Academic Exploration program. Faculty members from all disciplines contribute time and energy to the needs of the students in the program. The faculty members work not for the interest of their disciplines, but for the interest and needs of the students.

The Academic Exploration program was started in 1978 and it is constantly meeting the needs of the undecided student.

College Of Continuing Education

The College of Continuing Education is charged with the responsibility of coordinating late afternoon, evening, weekend and summer classes for graduate and undergraduate students, working with off-campus classes, directing and prompting academic institutes and seminars, and developing and promoting non-credit courses.

Last year the College offered 192 non-credit courses, seminars and conferences for 3,797 adult learners. This included 131 senior citizens. The statewide economic workshops for clergy attracted a record of 141 clergy, who represented 37 denominations from 92 communities. In January the College offered 30 credit courses to 515 students.

In the past year summer school enrollments doubled. Semester hours increased during the same time period and the program generated nearly one and one million dollars income in 1982. This summer the College will hold its first Elderhostel program for the state of Illinois. Also in the current year 179 freshman took tests in the College Level Examination Program and 111 people enrolled in courses without the desire of seeking a degree.

The Dean of the College of Continuing Education and Summer School, Dr. Donald M. Albanito has worked hard in designing a non-traditional students program for students that are at least twenty five years of age. He is working to further the develop the programs that are being offered through the College and is constantly revising the programs to meet the needs of all of the program participants.

Graduate School

The Graduate School of Bradley University is the only graduate school existing in a population center of approximately 350,000. This area includes Peoria and its surrounding areas. The programs offered by Bradley's Graduate School lead to masters degrees in twenty disciplines within the Colleges of Business Administration, Communications and Fine Arts, Education, Engineering and Technology, Health Sciences, and Liberal Arts and Sciences.

The School has increased access to its classes by offering its programs' courses during the periods when working students can attend them. It also designs programs which can meet the needs of residential students.

The Graduate School and the Office for Research and Sponsored programs at Bradley University provide the focus for research activities in which faculty and students are engaged. Special centers of activity such as the Institute for Urban Affairs and Business Research and the Materials Testing and Research Lab, bring the University's human resources to bear on the problems of industry, business, and the community. Bradley's Culom-Davis Library, which has over 750,000 items, is research oriented and has bibliographic access to holdings throughout the country. Also located on campus is a modern telecommunication lab facility with Broadcast radio, television, CCTV, satellite, and tele-production capacity.

Congraduations

And so it came to pass that time of great rejoicing had arrived in the lives of those who were to observe the ritual of passage into the real world. Many tribulations had befallen these chosen few; yet, they had proven themselves in the eyes of their mentors, and now their time of retribution had come.

Still, their joy was tinged with apprehension, for they would soon enter a jungle bereft with the unknown. Indeed, in the zenith of their gladness there was absolute panic. Who knew what awaited them in THE REALITY ZONE? (dada dada, dada dada)

Armed with only their wits and their trusty diplomas, the clan of '83 began their pilgrimage into the misty lands of the kingdom of REALITY. It would soon be realized that they must take separate paths to claim their rights in their new world. ("Hi Ho, Hi Ho, it's off to work we go")

In any case, the clan of '83 commenced (hee hee) with all the dignity that they could muster, and, in spite of their murmuring to be let back into the comforting warmth of the womb of education, they accepted their last stage of birth, for, yea, verily, they had labored long enough.
